Bradwolff Projects presents the exhibition Rock-paper-roots by the French-Dutch artist Géraldine Jeanjean. Rock-paper-roots amounts to an artistic search for origin, tradition and cultural transmission within the circle of life. Within the context of her work and her exhibition at Bradwolff Projects a publication with an essay of Taco Hidde Bakker will be launched later this year.

Géraldine Jeanjean (Amsterdam, 1978) lives and works in Amsterdam. She graduated with honors from the Fotoacademie Amsterdam. Her work has been exhibited at the Nederlands Fotomuseum in Rotterdam among others, and has been acquired for the collection of the Kunstmuseum in The Hague. She is nominated for the Somfy Photography Award 2020 (SPA). At the beginning of October 2020, new work will be exhibited, and the winners will be announced.

Bradwolff Projects takes the following measures to make your visit as comfortable and safe as possible. We have extended the opening hours and we follow the protocols of the RIVM.
